

A Day At Girl Scout Day Camp

BUDDY SYSTEM used by members of the day camp always keeps the children in pairs and by checking out on a large board camp counselors can keep tabs on the youngsters. Above, Leure and Linda Cramer put their tags on the buddy board before going to the ball field. Girls from all over Torrance attended the week-end campout recently at Torrance and El Nido Parks.

TIME OUT is taken by members of the Girl Scouts and Brownies at recent day camp to roast hot dogs over an open fire for lunch. During the two day camp out girls learned to set up housekeeping in the wilderness of Torrance Park.

ART OF SANDCASTING is shown to Sherri Meyer by Mrs. Yevone Frame at the recent Girl Scout day camp. Girls from 10 to 14 worked at the various arts and crafts under the watchful eye of scout leaders.

GIRLS FOLLOWED a trail of Indian signs and notes on trees to locate the key to a giant treasure chest. Shelley Listerud and Vicky Jean Lee express their joy on opening the chest and discovering a hoard of candy.

BROWNIES GATHER under the "Singing Tree" for a songfest at recent day camp. Group leaders and girls joined together in singing rounds and scouting songs under the brightly decorated paper "Singing Tree."

NO WASH BASINS are available at a camping site in a remote section of Torrance Park, so with some boards, string and a little hard work, girls attending the Scout day camp make their own. The wash basin consists of a tripod affair with a bucket hanging from a rope.

A LONE Boy Scout invades the Girl Scout day camp only to be put to work teaching the girls how to tie knots. Above Bob Christiana shows Carol Campbell the tricks involved in tying a bowline knot.
